JOINT VENTURE IN HONG KONG SOLIDIFIES GLOBALTEC'S GLOBAL PRESENCE

(DALLAS—July 26, 2006) In an effort to capture the tremendous potential of the global Chinese community, GlobalTec has entered into a Hong Kong-based joint venture that will introduce the power and simplicity of 4X Made Easy to FOREX traders in the Far East and beyond.

GlobalTec Hong Kong Ltd., is a joint venture of GlobalTec and Hong Kong-based financial technology company mFinance. GlobalTec is contributing the software and training materials; mFinance is contributing their market expertise, personnel, business relationships, and cultural understanding, said Tom Georgis, GlobalTec Vice President/International Affairs.

“We chose mFinance because of their market expertise (the CEO lectures on technical analysis and the (spot) FOREX market), technical expertise (mobile and trade platform technology) and also their business relationships,” Georgis said.

Lionbridge, an international company that specializes in translating and localizing software for foreign-language markets, also has been working closely with the GlobalTec development team and the GlobalTec Hong Kong team to create two Chinese versions of 4X Made Easy: Simplified and Traditional Chinese. Both versions are scheduled for limited release at the end of July.

The name and look of the 4X Made Easy software has been changed (cosmetic) but the functionality remains the same. The new name is forex2c; in Chinese, the name is pronounced “why hui fong.” Loosely translated, the name translates into “wealth/success/prosperity/foreign currency.”

GlobalTec Hong Kong has six full-time employees: two in marketing, two in customer service, one in technical support and one instructor/trainer. The CEO and CTO of mFinance and three of their programmer/developers also are part of the team.

The team is developing a completely new business model of 4X Made Easy for the Chinese market, one in which almost every aspect will be online... e-marketing, e-learning, e-commerce, and broadband-rich content.

Georgis said there is no English component to this offering; everything is in Chinese, including some training videos (now online) and translated commentary from 4X Made Easy President Blake Morrow and GlobalTec national trainer Lindsay Hall.
